

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The invention refers to a A method for fastening a protective membrane for dental use to a jaw bone and consists, first of all, in first involves fitting into the bone a micronail having a head with at least one means of retention feature and, then, the fastening of the membrane to said means of the retention feature on the head of the micronail. The head (12) of the micronail
5 has the feature s-means of retention for fastening a membrane, directly or with the aid of a retention element, after the micronail has been fitted into the jaw bone involved.